

Prior to Craig becoming a licensed MCA captain he had a career in business. He spent 16 years of his career in technology working up to director of technology for a major multinational corporation.

With this background in technology and his experience on yachts he is able to review your existing onboard technology and help you choose the best technology to meet your needs.

He can assist you in specifying :-

- a new chart plotter system
- fully integrated navigation systems
- electronic engine management upgrades
- satellite communications and television systems
- fully integrated ship wide entertainment systems
- phone systems
- on board communications systems
- IT systems including a very cost effective method of using the Internet via satellite to access your office and business interests.
